POETRY.

GO HOME, YOU BLOCKHEAD.

[Composed by J. WARREN WATSON, and Sung by Miss NELLIE KECHEM, of Chapin's Minstrels.]

Air—Come Home, Father.

You've talk'd of your business, the weather and crops—
The clock in the kitchen strikes nine,
And why you still linger here twirling your hat
I certainly cannot divine!
Already dear Henry quite jealous has grown,
You stay in the evening so late;
And one glossy ringlet of his auburn hair
Is worth more than your homely pate.

CHORUS—Go home! go home! you great awkward blockhead, go home! &c.

'Tis true that I call you "dear friend," when we meet,
But surely my meaning is clear—
"Our Father" pays extra each month for your light,
And that's why your friendship is "dear;"
You think I have wisdom? then take my advice:
From "ma's" watchful care never roam;
A dutiful son you had better become—
You know there's no place like ôm's home.

CHORUS—Go home! &c.

The fire has expir'd, the room's getting cold,
The lamp has burned empty since tea,
A great stupid booby, the cat and the dog
Are keeping the vigil with me.
The family have all gone to sleep in their chairs:
Indeed, Sir, I think it's a shame!
And if I should presently show you the door,
Remember that I'm not to blame.

CHORUS—Go home! &c.

First grinning, then blushing, you bashfully sit,
At me casting glances of love:
O think you a hawk or a raven would make
A suitable mate for a dove?
The clock in the kitchen is now striking twelve;
I scarce can refrain from a yawn:
Your ears are much shorter than those of your kind—
O truly I wish you were gone!

CHORUS—Go home! go home! you great awkward blockhead, go home!

Go home! go home! you great awkward blockhead, go home!

A SENSIBLE STORY.

MY NEWSPAPER.

Who can estimate the value of a newspaper? No one, until he has lost it—until the pleasant periodical visits, like the face of a dear friend, bringing such a fund of wit, news and general intelligence, that it is always greeted with a hearty welcome, are withdrawn. It is, in one sense, the light of the world without which the mental universe would be as much in darkness as the terrestrial is without the sun.

There are books, it is true, good, wise, instructive and entertaining; but they do not tell of what we want to know of passing events, or direct us to the best places of business. Neither do they inform us who of our friends are passing away or getting married, or who is doing a driving business, or who is a bankrupt, or who has sailed for the Eastern Continent, or who has returned from a tour thither, etc.

I did not think of this until I had formed the foolish resolve not to take my paper another year. The pressure of the times was severe, business dull, my family expensive, and it really seemed necessary to retrench somewhat, to make both "ends meet," at the end of the year. So I thought as I sat one evening in dressing gown and slippers, with my foot upon the fender. I had my last paper in hand, which I perused with a greater degree of interest than ever before; it may be because I resolved to part with it.

"I tell you" said I to my wife, "it won't do, we must curtail our expenses; and I will begin by withdrawing my advertisement from the newspaper, and ordering it discontinued. Taxes will soon be due, which must be paid; wood is enormously high, but we can't do without it—nor groceries and provisions, nor lights or clothing, or many other incidental expenses. We have plenty of books and magazines, old to be sure, still they are all readable; and we must do without the paper for the year to come."

It's only two dollars a year," said my wife, quietly.

"I know it," I replied, "but every dollar counts now-a-days."

"But do you not believe that it will have a tendency to render business still more dull not to advertise?" she asked.

"Nonsense! A place so well established needs not so questionable a lever to help it on. I do not suppose that it will make any difference, while the cost of advertising amounts to considerable," I replied, a little impatient.

"But what will you do for the news?" she ventured again.

"Oh, I can get enough of that by intercourse with others, and can occasionally buy or borrow a copy."

"John Smyth," said my wife, now fully aroused, "I am ashamed of you. What! too poor to take a paper yourself, and yet willing to filch information from others whose money is paid for what they learn and at the same time defraud the honest publisher who is constantly laboring with head and hands for the others' good. Talk about retrenchment. You had better stop your bills for cigars, a needless expenditure for yourself alone, while the newspaper is a perpetual intellectual feast for the whole family, yourself not excepted, and it costs but the merest trifle in comparison to the money you spend every week for tobacco. You have not spoken of the increased price of this article. Stop the paper, indeed!" And my wife jerked her chair around with not a very graceful movement, and sat with her back toward me in utter contempt of any "penny wise and pound foolish resolution."

Now I make it a point never to yield to my wife or any of my family, if I can help it, as in case I should, I would become a secondary consideration in my own family—a position I by no means intend to occupy; so I said nothing, but sat and puffed my fragrant Havana, watching the graceful folds of smoke as it wound itself in little wreaths about my head. I resolved that come what would, I would not yield indulgence in the delicious weed for the sake of a newspaper.

The next day I called on my publisher, settled my accounts, and ordered my paper discontinued.

"On what ground?" he asked in some surprise.

"Nothing," I said, "only I can't afford it," and I walked away, leaving him to his own reflections.

Time passed on; on the day which it was done, I could not feel quite contented at the non-appearance of my newspaper. There were other papers about, for I had bought one occasionally, but these were published in Eastern cities, and contained no local news of my own home.

At night when I reached home, my eldest daughter, Mary, met me in the hall.

"Where is the paper, papa," said she. "Oh, I am in such a hurry to see it. Mattie Truworth's marriage is in it, and the editor has published such an appropriate verse in connection, I am told."

But I put her aside, saying "The paper will not come any more. I have ordered it discontinued."

"Why, father!" she exclaimed, "how can we do without it?"

"We must learn to do without it," I replied as I passed on to the supper-room.

After supper, instead of reading to my family—sometimes leading their minds away off to other scenes and distant regions, beautiful countries that others have explored at great expense and some risk of life; sometimes to the fierce fields of battle, blood and carnage pictured so vividly that they seemed, indeed, before us, while we were safe and comfortable in our little home; or singing over the stray waifs of real poetry which often find their way into the newspaper, touching a tender chord in every heart—as I was wont to do—I stretched myself upon the sofa and tried to sleep.

"Tommy," whispered Mary, "run over to Mr. Wild's and see if you can not borrow his paper."

But Tommy soon returned with the answer that "Mr. Wild was reading it himself."

"Then go to Mr. Brown's, and if you cannot get his, go to Mr. Gates"

But Tommy was not more successful at either of these places. Mr. Brown had taken his down town, and Mr. Gates did not like to lend his paper. "Thought his father took it." A disappointed sigh was Mary's only answer

"The particulars of that murder affair are in the paper this week," said my wife, with a slight frown upon her brow, "and I would really like to see it."

"And Minnie Milford's new story was to come out in this week's paper. I really wish I could borrow it somewhere," said Mary.

"Here, Tommy," said I, taking five cents from my pocket, "run down to the news office and buy a copy, if it's not too late, or to the publishing office."

Tommy soon returned out of breath—"I've run enough after that old newspaper," with just a touch of his father's spunk, "and I won't do it again. The publishing office was closed, and the office had not a number left. I would like to find out, tho', when that celebration is coming off. Nobody knows for sure but the paper. Is it in that father?" he added.

The minds of all as well as myself, were on the missing paper, but I was thoroughly out of patience with myself, and with them. "I tell you I don't know anything about it," I replied, in not a very amiable tone, I fear. "Seems to me you are all wonderfully interested in that confounded paper since you know it's stopped. I don't want to hear another word about it." This put a quietus upon the subject, at least for a time.

However, as time passed on, I began to think I had made very little progress toward bettering my condition, and that "gathering information of cuarent events by intercourse with others," was a very unreliable source. Every one gave coloring peculiarly his own, and every one needs to read for himself to have a correct idea of what is going on around him.

Beside this, my business from dull became duller, and eventually dullest; while my neighbor across the way, with no better qualifications or facilities than myself, was actually doing a thriving business. Could it be because he advertised in the local paper—that which nobody took the trouble to read? Doubtful.

One day I met an old friend and customer whom I had not seen for a long time. I had often wondered what had become of him, as well as some others of his neighbors, who were once good paying customers of mine.

"How are you?" said he, giving me his hand. "How do you prosper? Going down hill, eh?"

"I hope not," I replied, with a faint smile.

"Well, I see you have stopped advertising and I supposed you had closed out or smashed up; and as I am usually in a hurry when I come to town, I go where they adverise to do work well and promptly. This is why I have not seen you lately. Good by, sir. If you are still in business, let us see your card, and know where you are and what you are doing."

I began to think better of advertising than I did before, and on my way home I gave the publisher of the paper a call.

"I begin to think, friend," said I, "I began in the wrong direction to curtail expenses; and I was indeed 'penny wise and pound foolish' when I withdrew my patronage. Our interests are more intimately connected than I could have believed, until I made the experiment."

Thereupon I was again enrolled on his list of subscribers, and half a column devoted to my business. And I freely confess that I have no occasion to regret the expenditure. My old customers and many new ones began to revive, and ere long I felt warranted in the expediency of securing an assistant.

My family was gratified at the appearance of their old friend, the newspaper, and I am resolved that sooner than part with it, I will give up "cigars," which for me would be quite a sacrifice I prize more highly than ever before, MY NEWSPAPER.

From the Watchman and Reflector.

A Bear and Three Cubs.

Some years ago there was a professor of rhetoric in a nameless college, who most unfortunately was a coward by nature and a braggart by practice. As might be expected, he was victimized by the students and laughed at by many of his acquaintances.

Upon one occasion, while walking in the rural districts late in the evening, he stumbled upon what he supposed to be a bear and three cubs. Making a hasty retreat, he reached his boarding house, panting with terror, where he horrified his friends by tearing through the house like a madman, and plunging between the sheets of his bed, from which his booted limbs still dangled when they came to inquire after the cause of his excitement.

One after another surrounded the bed and endeavored to uncover the face of the professor, each plying him with questions until he was forced to explain himself.

"What is it," cried his host?

"A bear and three cubs," gasped the muffled professor.

After much resistance the terrified man was dragged from his unclassic retreat, and the whole company armed with lanterns and weapons, sallied forth to capture bruin. To their chagrin they found that what the professors had taken to be a bear and three cubs was nothing more nor less than a nest of black pine stumps.

The story being too good to keep, followed in the wake of the professor, and there was never a student in college but had his laugh at that gentleman's expense.

As is sometimes the case with persons of small physical courage, the professor was egotistical and overbearing in his deportment toward his inferiors. He was especially noted for endeavoring to browbeat timid students—a propensity that gained him the ill-will of many deserving young men, and made him generally unpopular with his class.

It came to pass, however, that he met a timely rebuff, that was destined to outlive his rhetorical flourishes, and it happened in this manner:

In the rhetoric class was a poor student whose intellectual lamp burned as dimly as did the professor's spark of courage. Against this inoffensive youth he delighted to turn his battery of ridicule, and seemed to take immense satisfaction in the pangs he inflicted.

One day, company being present, and the professor more than usually caustic, this young man was called upon to mention some object or circumstance calculated to excite the emotion of terror.

"I do not think of anything, sir," replied the young man, in confusion.

"Not think of any thing?" echoed the professor, ironically. "In that case you must be a very brave young man."

"No, sir, I do not think of anything that would arouse terror in me, although I might mention something that has been known to occasion alarm in others."

"Very well, young man, you may mention something that you think would excite terror in me," cried the professor, glancing significantly toward the sympathizing spectators.

The student paused a moment, as if in the profoundest study, then mimicking the tones and maners of one in mortal terror, gasped out:

"A bear! A bear and three cubs, sir!"

We cannot undertake to describe the scene that followed. There was an oyster supper somewhere in the college building that night, but it is said the professor was not invited,

Another Murder in Fun.

The Albany Argus records another shooting of a young lady in fun. Chas. Loomis, proprietor of an eating-house at Schoharie, having in his hands a shot-gun, espied a young lady, named Mary Mann, aged sixteen, some distance down the street, Loomis, being a natural humorist, even a more funny man than the shot-gun wit of Saginaw, called out to the girl, "Mary, I'm going to shoot you." The girl replied—"You dare not." Loomis jokingly raised the weapon, aimed and fired, lodging twelve shot in the girl's face, neck, chest and arm. She was not killed outright, but only scarred for life, and very seriously wounded; but will recover probably. Loomis was arrested; and being asked why he fired excused himself by saying "he had not the slightest idea the gun would carry so far!" Of course he was horrified at the result of his joke—the shot-gun joker always is—that being one of the great features of the joke.

Instances of murder in fun are becoming more and more frequent. While public opinion looks upon such acts as jokes, and not crimes, no person's life is safe. The necessity of a law severely punishing any "fooling" with firearms is so apparent that it is wonderful how much effort it requires to arouse public attention to it. To point a gun or a pistol at any person, without malice, ought to be severely punished by fine; to attempt to fire a gun or pistol at any person without malice, ought to be punished by imprisonment in the county jail; to actually discharge a gun or pistol at any person without malice ought to be punished as a felony, by imprisonment in the penitentiary; and to maim or kill any person by such discharge ought to be punished by from six months to five years' imprisonment at hard labor.—Such a law would speedily cure the crime of murder in fun.—Detroit Post.

The Safety of Negro Suffrage.

Gen. O. O. Howard recently delivered an address in Washington, embodying the results of his observations at the South during a late trip. In the course of his remarks he said:

A meeting of colored people, held at Montgomery during my stay at that place, was a remarkable one. A large room was filled with men from the city and from different parts of the State. After various speakers had depicted to me somewhat in detail the poverty, sufferings and ill usage to which they had been subjected by proud, haughty, domineering, selfish men, I asked them suddenly, "What's the remedy?"

Some answered, "Give us the right to protect ourselves."

I then said: "Do you wish the colored people to vote?"

With one voice they said, "Yes."

But one of their number, a very intelligent, educated negro, stepped to the front and said:

"I don't want the colored people to vote for five years, for I want the radicals to remain in power. Here, and for twenty miles away, they'll vote for Mass. William, and Mass. John, to get their good will."

Hereupon an old negro with gray hairs and deeply furrowed brow, with broken, provincial speech, called out, with great energy: "Every creature has got an instinct—the calf goes to the cow to suck, the bee to the hive. We's a poor humble, degraded people, but we know our friends. We'd walk fifteen miles in war time to find out about the battle; we can walk fifteen miles and more to find how to vote."

The question was put when an overwhelming majority voted for immediate and universal manhood suffrage."

Four barrels of mud from Canada have arrived at Rochester. The mud is en route for Boston, where an analysis is to determine whether it contains gold or not.

Western New York has been inundated by floods within the last week. Railroad travel has been considerably obstructed by the destruction of bridges.

"TAKING them one with another," said Sidney Smith, "I belive my congregation to be most exemplary observers of the religous ordinances; for the poor keep all fasts and the rich all the feasts."

"Is anybody waiting on you, Miss?" said a polite dry goods clerk to a young girl from the country. "Yes, Sir," said the blushing damsel, "that's my fellow outside. He wouldn't come in."

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

The Baptist Anniversaries at Chicago.

Unfortunately we lost our notes taken during the progress of these meetings. The several societies connected with the denomination held their anniversaries. The Home Mission Society, the Publication Society, the Bible Union, the American and Foreign Bible Society, the Northwestern Theological Institute — and last, though not least, the Missionary Union. It was conceded by the Chicago press, to be the largest religious delegate body ever convened on the Continent —over 3,000 delegates were enrolled. It was a common remark by Chicago citizens: "The immense gathering of Baptists accounts for the city being immersed in the watery elements." The rain was daily and constant.—The meetings began Wednesday morning, the 22nd. A Convention of Colporteurs in connection with the Publication Society. They were ably addressed by Rev. J. M. Gregory, D. D. Thursday and Friday the Home Mission Society occupied the time, in the First Baptist Church. This is one of the largest and most beautiful houses of worship in the Northwest, seating over 3,000. The annual report developed unprecedented success. Saturday was given to the Bible Union.—The Union has translated the entire New Testament, and by the ablest scholars in the country—Conant, Hacket and Kendrick, being the leading translators. The Old Testament is rapidly undergoing revision. The watchword of the Society is "The Scriptures faithfully translated for the people." Over $1,500 was raised in Chicago to distribute this plain version among the Freedmen of the South. Said a Southern speaker, "Give the blacks the Bible in its purity, faithfully translated from the original, instead of transferred, and the Catholics now making desperate efforts to win them, will work in vain." The marked exercises on the Sabbath was the sermon before the Bible Union, Park Street Church, by Rev. J. D. Fulton, who is said to preach every Sunday to the largest Protestant congregation in America, being pastor of Tremont Temple, Boston. We heard this sermon. It was pronounced by the Chicago papers a splendid effort. Also, at the same hour, half-past ten, Dr. Anderson, President of Rochester University, in the Second Baptist Church, and Dr. Gregory in the First Church. In the afternoon, the Freedman's Theological Institute convened in the celebrated Crosby's Opera House. All of 5,000 people were present. Drs. Colver, Fulton, Grey, Chaplain U. S. Senate; Armitage, Sprague, Knapp and others made addresses. It was a thrilling meeting. Near $5,000 was raised for the theological education of colored ministers in the Institute in Richmond, of which Dr. Colver is the President. There was universal clapping of hands when Dr. Colver stated that he had succeeded in purchasing the largest slave prison, or pen, in Richmond, and is being reconstructed for the use of the Institute. The celebrated Evangelist, Knapp, related how, in 1843, on the earnest invitation of Baptist ministers, he went to Richmond to hold meetings. The ministers told him he must let slavery alone. He took for his text one evening — "Love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and thy neighbor as thyself." He showed how inconsistent the teachings of this text are with oppression. A storm gathered over his head. The blacks who met to pray for him were mobbed, and women stripped and flogged. He concluded "that he was in hell." The next evening the mob gathered around the Church. The ministers exhorted him to flee for his life. He escaped from a rear window, and left the city, shaking its dust off his feet. Dr. Armitage, one of the finest pulpit orators in the denomination, discoursed in the evening, at the First Church, on the "Sunday School work of Baptists."—It was a powerful and eloquent address, producing a marked sensation. He read extracts from the publications of the Sunday School Union, teaching covertly, and even openly, Pedo-Baptist views, and in direct violation of the rules of the Society. He showed from the experience of Episcopalian Churches, and the Methodist Church, and also Baptist Churches, when sufficiently independent to act upon the principle, that those who sailed under their own flag, and eschewed a so-called union, were most successful. That where Baptists, as in New York city the last ten years, in New England, Chicago, and on the Praries of the West, had displayed the most backbone, they had grown rapidly. But where they paid their money into the treasury of the Sunday School Union, and said to other denominations: "By your lieve," they were as weak as water, and in the aggregate absolutely decreased in numbers. They had but precious little self-respect, and were accordingly looked down upon by other denominations.

Some of the loftiest strains of eloquence we ever listened to were at the close, when he spoke of the results to the world if the Baptist literature were blotted out—the writings of Milton, Bunyan, Hall, Foster, Carson, Fuller, Judson—the last, Mrs. Judson, Conant, S. F. Smith, and others. Monday morning, the missionary Union met, presided over by Ex. U. S. Senator Harris, of New York. He made an impressive opening address, giving an account of the origin of the society; Judson, Price and other missionaries being sent out to India by the "American Board of Foreign Missions."—Knowing that they must come in contact with Dr. Carey and his coadjutors in Calcutta, English Baptists were induced on the passage to investigate the subject of baptism, so as to be able to defend their sentiments. The result was a change of their own views on this subject, and when they reached Calcutta they and their wives were baptized by Dr. Carey. It was a painful separation from their dear friends at home. Price returned to this country, and aroused the Baptist Churches then dormant on the subject of missions. The Society was thus organized in 1814, ere Chicago was known—now a city of near 300,000 inhabitants.—He developed the growth of the Society, numbering its converts in heathen lands by thousands. One of the stirring addresses was before the Publication Society, by Mr. Jacobs, a lawyer of Chicago, who is said to have built up more mission schools and saved more children than any other man in the city. He introduced a little girl on to the platform, who sang, in thrilling tones—"Dare to do right, dare to be true." The chorus sung by the vast audience. Monday and Tuesday evenings were devoted to setting apart, and the farewell addresses of missionaries who were about to bid farewell to friends and country, and toil for the salvation of the heathen.

Ye Christian heralds—go proclaim
Salvation in Immanuel's name;
To distant climes the tidings bear,
And plant the rose of Sharon there.

A word as to Chicago enterprise.—The same go-aheaditiveness that characterizes the business men in commercial trade is manifest in religious matters. The Second Baptist Church, Rev. Mr. Goodspeed pastor, has increased over 600 in numbers the last nine months; one Methodist Church, near 700. A half dozen members of some Church go out and plant a mission school, and in less than two years a house of worship, costing from $20,000 to $50,000 is erected. Caste distinctions don't prevail. In the aristocratic First Baptist Church, in the Sunday School room, fitted up in regal magnificence, sit side by side the children of the rich and the poor—millionaires and sons and daughters of poverty—white and black. This is Christ's gospel practically exemplified.

Detroit Tribune.

The statement of the Tribune that we oppose the raising of salaries by the Constitutional Convention is incorrect.—We favor a reasonable increase. $1000 per annum to the Governor is scandalous. But we hope the Convention will not go to the other extreme. Prices are declining—we are in debt—$2000 to the Governor and other officers proportionably is not objectionable. Bienial limited sessions are the thing. Save us from an overplus of legislation, and from hungry candidates for office. Will the Tribune please correct and state our true position?

The Southern Famine.

The famine in localities is fearful. Corn cannot be had at any price. In many places no planting is done, because there is no seed. In these localities help must be speedily given. And yet there is a bright side. In the major part of the South the crops never looked better, and in less than a month wheat will be harvested. There is an unprecedented yield of fruit.

CURRENT EVENTS.

The most stirring event is the capture of Maximillian. Querretaro is taken and Max is a prisoner. What will be done with him is uncertain. If Napoleon, the prime mover of his illfated empire, could be shot, we should say amen, Maximillian's career in the western hemisphere has been brief and eventful. Rumor says the Fenians are concentrating on the border. The English Government is trying to persuade the European Governments to disarm. The people are groaning under the heavy burden—industry paralized. Petitions in favor of the prohibitory law are crowding in upon the Convention. The Committee on Election have decided to expunge the word white with one exception unanimously. Gold 137¼; 7-30's 105½ to 106,

WHEAT.

Whoever holds wheat for further rise—whoever expects to get next week what is offered this week or four weeks from now the amount offered next week will be grandly mistaken. Last Tuesday, there were 110,000 bushels of wheat, and 67,000 barrels of flour in Chicago. Says the Chicago Tribune:

"The daily receipts are fully equal to the demand for local consumption, and there is no other demand now, and will be none until the new crop comes in. Speculators are ready to sell out, and their victims will be just that class of men who believe that the mills of Rochester and Oswego are running on wheat imported from Europe, and that Chicago is sending to California for flour. It is a huge sell."

A LEARNED SHOEMAKER. — The men who, like Bunyan, were placed in prison for what was deemed the high crime of preaching, were a noble race, including not a few distinguished for talents and learning. One of Bunyan's biographers tells us that belonging to the church at Bedford were no less than seven preachers. One of these, named Nehemiah Coxe, was a grandson of a bishop, and though only a shoemaker, was an eminent scholar. He was tried at Bedford Assizes for preaching, and pleaded first in Greek and then in Hebrew. The judge was astounded, and called for the indictment. In that Coxe was styled a cordwainer. The judge told him that none of the lawyers could answer him.—Coxe, however, claimed the right to plead in whatever language he pleased; this was conceded, and he was released. It is said the judge enjoyed the discomfiture of the lawyers, and said to them, as Coxe left the court, "Well, gentlemen, this cordwainer has wound you all up."

THE PEOPLE'S VERDICT.—No one need suffer with the Piles. W. W. Bebee, farmer, near Kalamazoo, Mich., says "after suffering intensely with Piles for thirty years, one bottle of Dr. Strickland's Pile Remedy cured me. C. L. Glass, Janesvile, Wis., one bottle cured him and his brother. A. H. Rose, Postmaster, Peru, O, says it cured him in a few days.

"THE MODEL FRUIT FARM.—We are assured upon good authority, that the advertiser is responsible, and will do as he agrees in every particular. The "Model Fruit Farm" is just what it is represented to be, and worth the money asked for it. "All for two dollars."—LaCrosse Republican.

We are personally acquainted with Mr. Whittier, and have often seen the Model Fruit Farm, which he offers, and we know that it is all that is recommended. We have seen all the other prizes, and they are worth the money represented. Mr. Whittier is one of our most worthy and honorable citizens.—St. Joseph Herald.

GRAND CHANCE.—We have just visited Chicago, and observing in hundreds of papers the advertisement of Mr. Whittier's Model Fruit Farm, now going, with fifty other prizes, concluded to investigate the responsibility of the whole matter, and we are happy to say that for once, at least, we are fully satisfied that everything will be conducted in the most fair and honorable manner. Those who desire to invest will have a good opportunity.—Iowa Statesman.

CHICAGO, April 26, 1867.

I have just returned from the great Peach Orchards of St. Joseph, Mich., and while there visited the Model Farm of Smith Whittier, and in regard to it would state it is the finest fruit farm in the Northwest. It will yield, the present year, over 20,000 baskets of Peaches, Plums, &c. The house and surroundings, to say the least, are elegant; and those who invest in this enterprise, can safely rely on a fair and honorable drawing.

P. A. HOYNE,
U. S. Commissioner, Chicago, North'n Dis. Ill.

A committee will be appointed to superintend the distribution of the Prizes, by the Horticultural and Agricultural Societies of Michigan, composed exclusively of Fruit Growers and Farmers, none of whom shall have any interest whatever in the drawing.

We will dispose of Certificates at the following rates:

For $2 we will forward one Certificate, or three for $5, and twenty for $30 to Agents, or Clubs, when money accompanies the order. We will send a list of engravings with each Certificate, from which parties may select any they wish. The engravings will number over 50 different varieties, the retail price of which is $2 each, in any Art Association in the country.

Observe that you receive nearly the worth of your money at once, and at the same time an opportunity is given you to secure an independent fortune for life.

DENTISTRY.—Alderman Brothers would say to the many patrons and friends who have assisted them to stem the tide common against strangers, that they hope to live in Ypsilanti, to reward them with or without regard to the profession. To those inclining, L. R. would state that he has had twelve years experience, and further assisted to remove stereotyped ideas by two years recent y spent in the offices of the most able Eastern practitioners. Teeth must eat or we will have no pay. If necessary to remove doubts in reference to workmanship or material, from one to five years test will be given. Those having teeth which "tottle" in the mouth, should call and examine testimonials of work done, we only charge for improvement actually made. HOW FRAGRANT

The air is with the perfumes from a thouands exotic plants, and all nature seems clad in her holiday attire. Yet misery is still in our midst. The roses may bloom, and ntaure put on her garlands of leaf and bud and flower. But man will nevertheless suffer—Dyspepsia, the sure forerunner of death, and companion of a miserable life, claims him as a subject. Do not wait then, dear reader, till its ravages lay you low in death, for nature has likewise found an antidote—compounded of her roots and barks—and prepared Coe's Dyspepsia Cure. *I*t will immediately cure the worst cases of Dyspepsia in existence. The proprietors warrant it in every case.

How Western Towns are Made.

MATTOON—LACK OF TIMBER—COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS—WEATHER, &C.

Some eight or ten years ago, I read in the Journal an account of the way in which prairie towns, such as Mattoon and other places in Illinois, were made. The article said, in substance, "The beginning is a platform, with a wooden cubby house at one side and the railway track on the other, and is called ——Station. Presently a farmer buys land close by and puts in a crop; then another farmer buys a quarter section adjoining the first comer, and he and his boys go to work with hearty good will; other settlers drop in, and, in a few months, a doctor makes his appearance; the last is followed by a merchant, in a small way, and the merchant by a lawyer. By this time——Station has experienced a change of name, and is known as Williamsburg, or Jonesville, or something quite as expressive as either. A post-office is established, and by and by the inhabitants form a general club for the purpose of buying materials for a weekly newspaper, the political articles of which are expected to be written by the lawyer, and the scientific ones by the doctor. In due time come the druggist, the milliner, the blacksmith, the photographer, the cigar dealer, the saloon keeper, &c., &c., and farmers settling rapidly all around the original "Station," the village grows, from a cubby house and rickety platform, in four or five years, to as many thousand inhabitants."

Republicanism in Alabama and Georgia.

The readers of the EVENING POST will recollect that it was first to encourage the formation of Republican organizations in the southern states and to predict their success. We have already had occasion to chronicle several evidences of the fulfilment of our prophecy and now have before us a private letter which states a condition of facts even more gratifying than we had expected. We should premise that this letter comes from one of the most prominent men in the southern states, whose opportunities for information are unusually good, and whose statements can be regarded as entirely trustworthy. We quote from his letter:

"You will be surprised to learn that the Republican party is already a powerful organization in these states, and it is rapidly increasing in strength and numbers. Already the Union League in Alabama numbersover thirty thousand white voters, and is equally strong in Georgia."

The writer continues:

"There never was such a marevellous change wrought in any people as has been accomplished since the passage of the late act of Congress. They are completely converted, and the everlasting 'nigger' is courted here by prominent whites in a manner which it is mild to call disgusting. 'Sambo' with a vote has been transformed from an ignorant brute to an intelligent friend and fellow-citizen. The wisest and most successful measure ever passed by Congress is the Reconstruction act of last session."

A writer in a New York journal complains that in the public schools of that city there is but one week vacation in winter and seven in summer; that nearly all the pupils go to Sabbath School two sessions each week, and that consequently the children have too much brain labor and too little rest The same complaint is applicable to most if not all the schools in this country and also to the practice of crowding on pupils too many studies at one time. The health of the child and physical development are generally sacrificed to the intellect, and thereby both diseased. A sound mind can only exist in a sound body, and brain power must depend greatly on bone power.—A man of feeble body is unable to turn his intellect to such account as one who is stronger of arm and stouter of limb. Take care of the health of the children. This is vastly more important than any school prize.

WEBSTER'S COURTSHIP.—The following incident is related of the late Daniel Webster's courtship. He was then a young lawyer in Portsmouth, N. H. At one of his visits to Miss Grace Fletcher, he had, probably with a view of combining utility and enjoyment, been holding skeins of silk thread for her, when suddenly he stopped, saying: "Grace, we have thus been engaged in tying knots; let us see if we can tie a knot, one which will not untie for a lifetime." He then took a piece of tape, and after beginning a knot of a peculiar kind, gave it to her to complete. This was the ceremony and ratification of their engagement.—And now in a little box, marked by him with the words, "Precious Documents," containing the letters of his early courtship, this unique memorial is still to be found. The knot has never been untied.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser, having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure cure for consumption, asthma, bronchitis, coughs, colds, and all throat and lung affections. The only object of the advertiser in sending the prescription is to benefit the afflicted and spread information which he considers to be invaluable, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing. Parties wishing the prescription, free, by return mail, will please address Rev. Edward A. Wilson, Williamsbury, Kings Co., New York. 168-1y

ERRORS OF YOUTH.

A Gentleman who suffered for years from nervous debility, premature decay, and all the effects of youthful discretion, will, for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it, the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's experience, can do so by addressing in perfect confidence, John B. Ogden, 42 Cedar Street, New York. 168-1y recommend to investors the

First Mortgage Bonds,

OF THE

CENTRAL

PACIFIC R. R. COMP'NY.

This Company is constructing under the patronage of the United States Government, the Western end of the Great National Railway across the Continent.

Their line will extend from Sacramento, California, across the Sierra Nevadas to the California State line, traversing the richest and most populous section of California, and thence through the great mining regions of the Territories, to the vicinity of Salt Lake City.

It forms the sole Western link of the only route to the Pacific which is adopted by Congress, and aided by the issue of United States Bond.

Their road is already completed, equipped and running for 94 miles from Sacramento to within 12 miles of the summit of the Sierras, and a large amount of the work of Grading, Tunnelling, &c., beyond that point has been accomplished.

The First Mortgage Bonds of this Company afford unusual inducements of Safety and Profit to Investors, for the following among other reasons, viz.:

First, The rate of interest is *S*ix per in Gold, payable Semi-annually, in the City of New York.

Second, The principal is payable in Gold at maturity.

Third, The cost of the *B*onds, 95 per cent. and accrued interest, is 10 per cent. less than that of the cheapest 6 per cent. Gold-bearing bonds of the Government.

Fourth, The United States Government provides nearly half the amount necessary to build the entire road, and looks mainly to a small percentage on the future traffic for re-payment.

Fifth, Owing to this liberal provision, accompanied with Extensive Grants of Public Lands, by which the Government fosters this great national enterprise, its success is rendered certain, and its financial stability is altogether independent of the contingencies which attend ordinary Railroad enterprises.

Sixth, The security of its First *M*ortgage Bonds is therefore ample, and their character for safety and reliability is equalled only by that of the obligations of the Government itself.

Seventh. The net earnings of the completed portion are already largely in excess of the interest obligations which the Company will incur on twice the distance, and are steadily increasing, rendering the uninterrupted payment of the interest absolutely certain.

Eighth. At the present rate of gold they pay nearly 8½ per cent per annum, on the amount invested.

The Bonds are issued in denominations of $1,000 with semi-annual gold coupons attached, payable in New York, and are offered for the present at 95 per cent and accrued interest (in currency) from January 1st.

Orders may be forwarded to us direct, or through the principal Banks and Bankers in all parts of the country.

Remittances may be made in drafts on New York, or in Legal Tender Notes, National Bank Notes, or other funds current in this city, and the Bonds will be forwarded to any address by Express, free of charge. Inquiries for further particulars, by mail or otherwise, will receive punctual attention.

Know Thy Detiny.

Madame E. F. Thornton, the great English Astrologist, Clairvoyant and Psychometrician, who has astonished the scientific classes of the Old World, has now located herself at Hudson, N. Y. Madame Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of second sight, as to enable her to impart knowledge of the greatest importance to the single or married of either sex. While in a state of trance, she delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, together with date of marriage, position in life, leading traits of character, &c. This is no humbug, as thousands of testimonials can assert. She will send when desired a certified certificate, or written guarantee, that the picture is what it purports to be. By enclosing a small lock of hair, and stating place of birth, age, disposition and complexion, and enclosing fifty cents and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture and desired information by return mail. A NEW "HEALTH REFORMER'S COOK BOOK."

Under the above title, F. Wilson Hurd & Co., of "Our Home," Dansville, N. Y. have just published a work of 70 pages, which contains a large amount of valuable matter. It has been prepared by Mrs. Lucretia E, Jackson, who for nearly twenty years has been associated with her husband, Dr. James C. Jackson in a management of one of the large t and most successful Hygienic Institutions in the country. Mrs. Jackson has made the preparation of food in the most wholesome simple and palatable ways a matter of study and thorough experiment, and the result is before us in the Health Reformer,s Cook Book. Every family, whoes object is to eat to live rather than to live to eat, should possess this book; and indeed no housekeeper, whatever may be her method of cookery, could fail to derive useful information from it. Price by mail 30 cents. 165—4w

Wonderful but True.

Madame Remington, the world-renowned Astrologist and Somnambulistic Clairvoyant, while in a clairvoyant state, delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of immense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a perfect and life like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, with date of marriage, occupation, leading traits of character, &c. This is no imposition, as testimonials without number can assert. By stating place of birth, age, disposition, color of eyes and hair, and enclosing fifty cents, and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture by return mail, together with desired information.

RING'S

Vegetable Ambrosia,

FOR

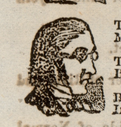
GRAY HAIR.

This is the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Man who was bald and gray,
Who now has raven locks, they say.
He used the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Maiden, handsome and gay,
Who married the man once bald and gray,
Who now has raven locks, they say.
He used the AMBROSIA that Ring made.



This is the Parson, who, by the way,
Married the maiden, handsome and gay,
To the man once bald and gray,
But who now has raven locks, they say,
Because he used the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Bell that rings away
To arouse the people sad and gay
Unto this fact, which here does lay—
If you would not be bald or gray,
Use the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

As the first of May approaches some will be considering [for the first time] housekeeping. Many more will be moving; and as this state of things will always exist, permit us to call attention to the Stove whose name heads this notice. Like the American watch—perfect in all its parts—it is also truly economical. There is a degree of perfection arrived at in the making of this Stove which has never been attained in any other. Therefore, first of all, provide yourself with the best Cook Stove the market affords. all and examine the American, and judge for yourself. Come and see it, even if you do not wish to purchase. Those who have an eye for the perfection of the mechanical art will be richly repaid, and those who buy will soon realize a pecuniary return in its economical consumption of fuel, aside from its most perfect convenience in Baking, Boiling and Broiling. A Young Lady returned to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse rustic flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquire as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the CIRCASSIAN BALM, and considered it an invaluable acquistion to any Lady' toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve thir personal appearance a hundred fold. It is simple in its combinations, as Nature herself is simple yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurites from, also healing, cleaning and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurites, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be. clear soft smooth and beautiful. Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzers, your switches, your wig,
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away largo amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Cappilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given. Astrology. The World Astonished

At the wonderful revelations
Made by the great astrologist
MADAME H. A. PERRIGO.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catasthrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends loss of money, &c. have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secresy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

CONSUMPTION CURABLE BY DR. SCHENCK'S MEDICINES.

TO CURE CONSUMPTION, the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good wholesome food, which, by these medicines will be digested properly, and good healthy blood made; thus building up the constitution. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cleanse the stomach of all billious or mucous accumulations; and, by using the Sea Weed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP is nutricious as well as medicinal, and, by using the three remedies, all impurities are expelled from the system, and good, wholesome blood made, which will repel all disease. If patients will take these medicines according to directions, Consumption very frequently in its last stage yields readily to their action. Take the pills frequently, to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not required, for sometimes in diarrhœa they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic Syrup to act on the respiratory organs properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure is, to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the rooms as much as possible, eat all the richest food—fat meat, game, and, in fact, anything the appetite craves; but be particular and masticate well. [2nd w. ea. mo. 1 yr.

HINT TO BUTTER-MAKERS.

There is no article for domestic use brought to the Boston market upon which so great a pecuniary loss is incurred to producers as on butter. At a moderate estimate, there has been sold in this city the past year half a million pounds of butter. Not more than one-fourth of this amount would be classed by dealers as strictly fine. The price of the best quality has ranged from 40 to 50 cents—averaging to the dairymen at least 42 cents; while inferior grades have sold from 12 1-2 to 35 cents—averaging about 28 cents. Had all of this butter been carefully and properly made there would have been, at the lowest estimate, a gain of at least $50,000 to the producer. Can a remedy be adopted to prevent this serious loss? This question we propose to answer.

It should always be kept in mind by dairymen that butter is ranked in domestic economy as a luxury, and only when it is such in reality can it command the highest price. In its perfect condition, it should be in color a fine golden yellow, not white, streaked or marbled. The grain should be firm, and neither spongy, "soapy" nor "salvy." It must be fine flavored and not too salt. To have butter answer this description the cows must run in sweet feed, the milk vessels be perfectly clean, and the milk and cream kept in a cool, dry cellar. The butter should be entirely free from buttermilk, but not worked so much as to injure the grain. Above all, the right kind of salt must be used; for unsuitable salt is the chief source of poor butter. Most of the salt used contains lime, which, being a powerful alkali, decomposes all greasy compounds, and therefore changes the condition of the butter to a soapy substance,

First class diarymen all agree that Ashton's Liverpool salt is the only kind that can always be relied upon, as it is entirely free from lime, and of the finest flavor. It amalgamates with the whole mass, and even if highly seasoned with this salt, butter put down in June will be found fine and flavored and high-toned throughout the season.

In the matter of packing, tubs holding thirty to fifty pounds are best. They should be made of oak, when possible, but where this wood is not found, spruce will answer; but whatever the kind of tub used it should always be soaked in strong pickle, made of the best salt, three or four days before using. After the butter is packed, a peice of new bleached cloth should be laid over the top and thinly covered with salt.

A FAMOUS HORSE SOLD TO A MICHIGAN LADY FOR $10,200.—The famous trotting horse Melton, the pride of the Canadian turf, lately owned by Mr. Simson James, of this city, has been sold to leave the province for the round sum of $8,500 in gold. The purchaser is a lady of sporting proclivities, residing at Kalamazoo, Mich., who is also the owner of the American trotting horse Gray Eagle. She first witnessed the performance of Melton at the grand horse meet in Buffalo last season, and has since been persistent in her determination to acquire possession of her favorite, until the offer of the large sum mentioned overcame the owner of the animal Melton distinguished himself at the Buffalo races last season, winning one of the grand purses against a field of renowned competitors, and was undoubtedly entitled to rank as the king of the Canadian turf, which reputation the late owner confidently anticipated he would maintain the present season more effectually than ever before Mr. James started yesterday with Melton in charge, to be delivered to the purchaser at Kalamazoo, she also paying the duty, which, according to the present tariff of 20 per cent. will amount to the item of $1,700, making the total cost of the horse $10,200. — Hamilton (C. W.) Times.

KEEPING AND SETTLING COFFEE.—The following appears valuable: "For one pound of coffee take one egg and beat it well. When the coffee is nicely browned and cool enough not to cook the egg, pour the egg over it, stiring it until every kernel is coated with a varnish, and let it stand a few minutes in a warm place untill it dries. This will prevent the escape of all aroma, is not affected by moisture, and the egg helps settle the coffee when it is ground and steeped."

HOW THE BURMESE KISS.—Chung Loo a native Burmese, who has been educated in this country, and is now delivering lectures in this State dressed in native costume, in the course of his remarks in this city, imparted the following information which may prove interesting to some:

"I notice the ladies of this country sometimes paint to improve their complexion. They do so with us; using for that purpose powder made from a species of fragrant wood. Kissing is unknown among us as practiced in the country. Our language has no such word as kiss. The corresponding endearment in Burmah, is to press the the lips and nose closely to the cheek of the fair one, and inhale the perfume. To ask for a kiss we say give me a smell.'"

A NATURAL SOLUTION.—Aunt Sally as she is called in our village, had lived a few years with us when she buried a second husband, the first having been buried in Rushville, some ten miles north, where she was first married. Speaking of her great and recent affliction, she said: "We all have our trials and troubles, but I'm most crazy now to know which of my two dear husbands I shall be buried alongside of." She went so nearly crazy about it that she decided the question by taking a third.

The Best and Cheapest Horse and Cattle Medicine in the World!

WALTER B. SLOAN'S IMPROVED

CONDITION POWDER

THE GREAT STANDARD REMEDY

For Horses and Cattle.

Used throughout the United States and Canadas during the last 23 years.

For the cure of the various Diseases to which Horses and Cattle are subject; such as Founder, Distemper, Hide Bound, Loss of Appetite, Inward Strains, Yellow Water, Fistula, Poll Evil, Scratches or Grease, Mange, Inflammation of the Eyes, and Fatigue from Hard Labor; also, Rheumatism, (commonly called Stiff complaint), which proves fatal to so many valuable horses in this country.

SLOAN'S CONDITION POWDER

Has the largest sale of any Horse and Cattle Medicine in this country. It is composed of herbs and roots, and for mildness, safety, certainty and thoroughness, stands pre-eminently at the head of the list of Horse and Cattle Medicines.

It carries off all gross humors, prevents horses from becoming stiff or foundering, purifies the blood, loosens the skin, and gives it a smooth and glossy appearance cleanses the water and strengthens every part of the body. It is also a safe and certain remedy for coughs and colds, which generate so many fatal diseases.

The Cow requires to be supplied with an abundance of food—not to make her fat—this is not desirable, but to keep up a regular secretion of milk, and all owners of cows will find by giving them twice a week, a large increase in quantity and quality of milk and cream. It carries off all fever and impurities of the blood. The effect is seen throughout the season by a rich and abundant flow of milk.

The farmer is beginning to be aware of the valuable properties of Sloan's Condition Powder, in promoting the condition of his sheep and preventing many of the diseases of all the domesticated animals.

☞ A fifty cent package of Sloan's Condition Powder put into a barrel of swill is better than a bushel of corn to fatten a hog, and is a certain preventive of Hog Cholera, Blind Staggers, and other diseases common among hogs.

CAUTION.—To protect ourselves and the public from being imposed upon by worthless imitations, the genuine will bear the fac simile signature of the proprietors on the wrapper.
